COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

At the close of the 1957 year there were eight accounts that showed an overdraft. While on the other side of the ledger there were seven accounts that showed an unexpended balance. The total overdrafts are $1,779.72, while the total unexpended balances are $5,021.91. The overdrafts should actually be $337.00 less than listed if this amount had been received from the State before the books closed. This amount is due from the State for the services of the Fire Department at the Mills fire in Mason last May. Due to a slight misunderstanding between the State and the town the payment has been withheld. However notice was received last week that a check would be forwarded in a few days.

An overdraft shows in the Community Building account. The profit on the logging operations was used to pay for repairs and painting on the building. But due to the amount of work that needed to be done the amount available was only a little over one-half the cost of the project.

Last week's snow storm was reportedly about the worst since Feb. 1892. The fact that the wind did not blow very strong and that we had no breakdown of equipment aided materially in getting the roads open as quickly as was accomplished. The greater part of the snow fell between 1:00 a. m. and 5:00 a. m. Flows had been out since 9:00 p. m. the evening before, but it was just impossible to keep up with the storm in the early morning hours.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

German Teacher Spending Three Weeks at Gould

Gould Academy has as its guest for a few weeks Rudolf Weninger, a native of Germany. Mr. Weninger is in the United States through a Fulbright Grant sponsored by the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare to observe American education. Before arriving in Bethel he toured the country, visiting schools of various types in the Chicago area and attending classes at the University of Chicago. At home, in Nuremberg, Bavaria, he teaches German, Geography, and history in the German "Gymnasium," the equivalent of a United States secondary school.

Mr. Weninger will be here approximately three weeks, until Jan. 31. While at Gould he is speaking to various organizations on German life and education, living in Holden Hall, and eating in the main dining room. Gould was chosen for him to visit because it is unique among schools, being both private and public, day and boarding.

Mr. Weninger is very fluent in English. He has been greatly enjoying his five months' stay in the United States and will remain in this country until March.

Mr. Weninger is available to talk to interested groups on the school program in Germany and related subjects—especially the secondary school. Please make your requests through the Gould Academy office, Vandyke 4-2131.

Christmas Seal Sales to Support Tuberculosis Control in County

Christmas Seal returns for Oxford County have helped up well after a slow start in November, and if the usual post-New Year's Day response by people who overlooked returning their contributions during the holiday activities or delayed sending their donations until after the holidays measure up to the late returns of previous years, the final total should match that of last year's successful sale.

Mrs. Loring W. McFall, R. N., Program Consultant of the Maine Tuberculosis Association for Oxford and Franklin Counties, stated:

Mrs. McFall reported that on December 14, the Oxford County sale was $193.58 behind the record for a comparable period of the 1954 Christmas Seal Sale. As of Friday, January 3, a total of $293.41 had been received. This amount is only $78.63 behind the final figure for the Oxford County sale last year (March 25).

"During past weeks," Mrs. McFall continued, "reminders have been sent to the 1,012 Oxford County residents who may have overlooked or delayed sending their contributions. The response to this reminder has been excellent thus far and if it continues good the record of the previous year should be bettered."

It was pointed out by Mrs. McFall that additional funds are needed in the Franklin-Oxford County territories which she serves to develop and carry out indicated programs of tuberculosis control, school and public health. "At the present time," she said, "much of the work being done in these areas is subsidized by the Maine Tuberculosis Association with other funds than those contributed locally."

The tuberculosis association workers of the two counties hope that ultimately the program in the area will become self-sustaining and at local tuberculosis and health associations such as serve other sections of the state can be formed to serve the people of Franklin and Oxford Counties," Mrs. McFall concluded.

Fluoridation of Bethel Water Recommended by PTA and Health Council

A joint meeting of the P. T. A. and the Bethel Health and Service Council was held at Crescent Park School Tuesday evening, Jan. 15.

The speaker for the evening was Dr. Arthur Easton, D. M. D., of Norway, who spoke in detail on the subject of fluoridation and its benefits. Dr. Easton has long been interested in fluoridation and has been studying and watching the results of its use in other parts of the country for many years, hence was able to speak with the authority of long experience and up-to-date knowledge.

He outlined many of the benefits, particularly to children, of fluoridation; pointing out that it is one of the most effective "automatic" means of reducing tooth decay. He cited statistics to show the very real problem of a growing shortage of dentists throughout the country, which would indicate the wisdom of greater self-care of the teeth. With only 3,100 new dentists being graduated each year nationally the government services take approximately 1,850 while another 1,850 are needed simply as replacements for the deaths and retirements in dentistry leaving a growing shortage greatly accelerated by an increasing population. And these conditions exist even though only 46% of our population ever visit a dentist! Dr. Easton further pointed out that such reliable national medical and health organizations as the American Medical Association, American Dental Association, the U. S. Public Health Service, etc., have unqualifiedly endorsed the use of fluoridation and that upwards of 1,500 communities throughout the country already have taken advantage of this simple, inexpensive and effective means of "automatically" improving the general dental health of their citizens.

He cited the experience of the "test town" of Newburgh, N. Y., where the results of accurately controlled tests over a period of some 13 years had shown a 62% decrease in dental decay. And lastly he spoke of his own town of Norway where fluoridation has been an accomplished fact for about six years and where State controlled tests have shown an 80% reduction in dental caries.

During the question period following Dr. Easton's speech it was brought out that the Town of Norway at its town meeting had voted the funds to buy the necessary equipment to install fluoridation and gave it to the water district to insure early installation and to avoid any possible conflict of interests over possibly increased rates had the water district been required to stand the initial expense. Dr. Easton then explained that the total cost for this necessary equipment was less than $1,200, in 1952, that the material used yearly cost only $250 and this this operation required only a single five minute test daily.

At the close of the meeting it was unanimously voted by both organizations "to endorse and recommend the fluoridation of the Bethel water supply at the earliest possible date." To this end a committee was appointed with Robert Gilman as chairman, to look into the total cost of equipment and financing with the intent of discussing the matter with the Building Committee and sponsoring an article in the town warrant to follow the action of Newburgh, but in any event to take for fluoridation as quickly as possible.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by the fourth grade mothers of the P.T.A.

We don't want to play favorites—so here's a picture that should appeal to both cat and dog fanciers.

Cameras Turn to the Dogs—and Cats

Some people love dogs, some people adore cats. We have no wish to take sides in the friendly feud between 30,000,000 cat owners and 25,000,000 dog owners, and we're, therefore, decided to discuss both feline and canine pets as subjects for your camera.

When you set out to picture the family pet, the procedure calls for much the same technique as you use when you snap the young and old members of the household "in action". Having selected the time, the place and the general background, you must be ready with camera, lights and film to shoot at a moment's notice. "Watchful waiting" is the byword—which means you'll need plenty of patience to capture the best possible shots of your favorite animal.

Don't expect Tom or Tabby to hold a pose while you fiddle and fumble with lights or camera angles. Strive for those four-legged subjects are often on the small side, you should come down to their level when you shoot. Plan to use a low camera angle—and a close-up attachment, too, if your pet is a large pup or kitten.

If you want to get things under way without too much delay, be prepared with several simple props. A bowl of milk or a ball of string or crumpled cellophane for your cat—a biscuit, bone, or rubber ball for the pup—will yield dozens of wonderful picture possibilities. Action, changing expressions and humorous antics—you can expect these to follow in quick succession. So be quick on the shutter—and shoot a whole series of pictures to be sure of getting some excellent shots even if a few fumbles occur.

Activities of animals just naturally make fine "human interest" pictures. And as such, they should tell their story without benefit of caption or commentary. Suppose, for example, you're snapping a young kitten. Much of its appeal lies in its tiny size, its endless curiosity and its constant discovery of the great big beautiful world around it. That's why we "get the message" from shots that show the kitten discovering the delicious warmth of a radiator, or having its first taste thrill from a velvet-smooth vanilla ice-cream cone.

MAN'S RECIPE

Lima Bean Sausage Casserole

Sometimes the course of history has been changed by a food or pepper, to an illustration. Pepper came from familiar black spots in the oldest known spice so far as we know. It is also the most valuable and is the most widely used spice on a world-wide basis.

Pepper comes from a perennial vine. The black pepper we commonly use is derived from the berry before it is ripe, while pepper comes from the fully matured berries. It is said as pepper comes from a native to areas in India and the largest source in the world is in Malabar.

Today's recipe is one of my all-time faves to celebrate with the staff and family. You can ground your own pepper, or buy ground pepper in large or large green pods.

NEW BOOKS AT THE BETHEL LIBRARY

"The Return of Lady Brace," by Nancy Wilson Ross.

"White Mother," by Jessie Sam. Into the lives of two ragged little Negro girls came an angel—a white angel. Veane and Mingie Bennett were seven-year old twins in a small Florida town, half-savage, motherless, caring for their dying father. This is a true and very moving story.

"The Sound of Thunder," by Taylor Caldwell. Once again, Taylor Caldwell stirs the imagination holds her readers, and tells her story with the "Stuff of Mankind"—the fears, the hopes, the failures, the jealousies, and the loves of real people. "The Sound of Thunder" is the author at her best.

"Jeweled Sword" by Ruth Livingston Hill. This is the story of young Dare Truscott, who lives unasily with his elderly and bitter family. Then he falls in love with rich, glamorous Darla and it seems that escape might be in sight.

"What of the Mormons," by Gordon Hisecky. A history of the Mormon religion. (A gift.)

"Joseph Smith," by John H. Evans. Here is a man who was born in the stark hills of Vermont; raised in the backwoods of New York; who never looked inside a college or high school; who spent months in vile prison; who was covered with tar and feathers and left for dead; and who at the untimely age of 34 was shot to death by a mob with painted faces.

Gould 45 - Old Orchard 62
At Old Orchard last Friday the Gould team played improved ball but still went down to defeat due mainly to terrific outside shooting of the Seaside. The winners scored most of their points from outside the Gould zone defense.

The first period was a thriller, with both teams matching baskets as the lead changed hands with every score. The Huskies led 14-13 as the period ended.

The Old Orchard scored twice in the start of the second quarter to take the lead they never relinquished. It was the Academy team's worst period as they scored only 5 points to 16 for the Eagles. This gave the home club a 29-20 lead at half time.

Old Orchard outscored Gould in both periods of the last half 18-13 and 15-12 to gain a 62-45 victory. Girard with 22 points and Ouellette with 14 led the winners. Whitten 16, Race 13, and Smith 10 scored in double figures for the losers.

Gould Teams Travel to Farmington and Bridgton
Friday both the Varsity and J. V. teams will travel to Farmington for the inter-league games. Both the Huskies and the Greyhounds are finding the going tough in their respective leagues. Also both clubs have recently been classified in the "L" division although they are entirely out of their class. It will be Gould's first encounter with an "L" team.

On Tuesday the Husky teams will be meeting Bridgton High on their own floor. The Bridgton varsity won the first game at Bethel by a 48-35 score. The Gould J.V.'s won their game at Bethel by a 41-19 count, but they will find tough opposition on the Bridgton home court. The Gould understudies have short shooters scoring over 20 points each. Porter ran up the highest total scored against the Academy five this year. The extremely small floor helped to enrage the Huskies who are used to plenty of space.

Whitten, Gould's usual high scorer, was held scoreless while Smith and Felt were high scorers with 9 each.
